

Olympus

WHETHER IT'S subzero temperatures, underwater dunkings, or finger-tip fumbles, Olympus's bombproof, 10-megapixel Stylus Tough-6000 ($279.99, olympusamerica.com) is more than accident insurance—it produces high-quality images at a great price. The metal body cushions falls of up to 5 feet, and a system of water-proof seals and gaskets lets you take pictures up to 10 feet underwater. Other features include a three-frame panoramic capture mode, widescreen LCD with anti-glare technology, and a 3.6x wide-angle optical zoom.

Aquamira

CONSUMING CRYPTOSPORIDIUM, Giardia, and other pathogens such as waterborne insect larvae and E. Coli will quickly beat your guts into submission. The Aquamira Water Bottle & Filter ($26.95, aquamira.com) uses tiny, intricate pathways in the micro-biological filter to trap 99.9 percent of the nasty culprits. Pack it on your next fishing trip and drink clear, clean-tasting water right out of the river. Bottles hold 22 fl. oz. (650ml) and have a protective flip-cap and sturdy Lexan construction.

SmartWool

FROM WICKEDLY warm socks to functional, fashionable clothing, SmartWool knows its merino fabrics inside and out. The Howelsen half-zip sweater ($110, smartwool.com) is super soft, doesn't itch, or shrink, and naturally regulates body temperature. Wear it as part of an insulating base-layer system or on its own, perusing the après scene with your buddies over beers.
